Architectural Services

The Professional Architects Council (the “Council”) alerts the public to instances of individuals offering architectural services on social media, including Facebook, without being registered as professional architects.

The public is reminded that, under the Professional Architects Council Act, only duly registered professional architects are authorised to practise architecture in Mauritius. Any breach of the Act may give rise to legal action, including fines and imprisonment upon conviction.

Members of the public are strongly advised to exercise due diligence and to engage only registered professional architects.
